

SMITH READY TO WAGE HIS SEN. BATTLE

Rights of State Issue He Declares in His Acceptance

Chicago, Jan. 14.—(AP)—Col. Frank L. Smith has accepted appointment by Gov. Len Small to complete the term of the late William B. McKinley and will demand the oath of a United States senator in recognition of his own "constitutional rights and the sovereignty of the state of Illinois."

"Undiscouraged and conscientiously unafraid" despite the turn of events, the republican senator-designate and Senator-elect announced last night that he would go to Washington early next week and carry the fight to the senate.

"Subsequently to taking the oath, I shall conform to whatever inquiry procedure is prescribed by the usual practice of the Senate in such cases, asking only a full and impartial hearing," said Col. Smith who is being opposed on the basis of contributions to his primary campaign from public utilities heads.

State's Rights Issue

The whole question, he declared, is whether the Senate shall, acting as court, decide arbitrarily and without hearing to set aside both the constitution and rights of a duly elected senator and of a sovereign state.

Col. Smith holds two sets of credentials to the senate, but he made the point that those involved at this time are not predicated upon election "but are by virtue of the constitutional authority vested in the governor of a sovereign state."

He said that precedents of 140 years affirm his right to a seat under the circumstances.

Col. Smith's acceptance here of the Governor's appointment came three weeks after he was notified of the designation, during which time he has been warned from without and counseled from within his party not to attempt to complete the term.

Col. Smith said he felt, however, that further delay was unwarranted and unfair to the people of Illinois.

MAY BE GIVEN OATH

Washington, Jan. 14.—(AP)—Efforts of democrats to stop Senator-designate Frank L. Smith of Illinois at the senate door when he comes here next week to present his credentials, will be countered by the republicans with a motion to swear him in pending an investigation by the elections committee.

Democrats want an investigation before the senate seats Smith, who was appointed by Gov. Small to fill out the unexpired term of the late Senator William B. McKinley, republican, after he had been elected to replace Senator McKinley beginning next March 4.

The inquiry which is certain to be conducted by the elections committee will go largely into expenditures in Smith's primary campaign, which already has been investigated by the senate campaign funds committee.

More Deaths than Births in Grover's District Last Year

There were 53 more deaths than births in Dixon, Nelson, South Dixon and Natchua townships in 1926, according to the annual report of Local Registrar Blake C. Grover which has just been completed and filed with the state department of public health at Springfield. During the twelve month period, there were 369 deaths and 256 births, which is a marked increase in the mortality rate over previous years, and also a very noticeable decline in the number of births, which totaled 256 for the year.

For several years past, the total figures have run very close. Last year there were but 256 deaths and 252 births.

THINK ASSAILANT OF CLINTON WOMAN HID IN BARN IN THIS CITY THE PAST TWO NIGHTS

Reports reaching the police department and sheriff's office last evening about 8 o'clock, of the presence in Dixon of a man answering the description of the fiend wanted in Clinton, Iowa, for the brutal attack on a Mrs. V. A. Shalene, led to a careful investigation by the officers. Following a long search the officers returned finding that the suspect had departed for other parts.

It was learned that a strange man who answered in many ways the description appearing in last evening's Telegraph, spent Wednesday night in a barn in the down town section, sneaking in after dark in the evening and keeping well under cover. Again last evening the stranger appeared after he had sought to secure employment on a farm and was thought to be planning on spending another night in the barn. However, the man disappeared some time after dark and no trace of him could be found when officers arrived and made a careful search of the barn.

DEAD TEN YEARS FREEPORTER IS BACK FOR VISIT

"Killed" in Crash, He Narrowly Escaped Burial Alive

Auburn.—Although Alexander D. Chatelle, of Freeport, Ill., was reported dead 10 years ago, he is now visiting his mother, in Auburn.

The fact that Alex is home recalls the news dispatches of June 30, 1916, which reported him killed in an automobile accident near Warren, Ill. Auburn friends believed him to have passed on, and were more than delighted to greet him.

Mr. Chatelle explains about the accident, in which an automobile carrying himself and five companions was struck by a railroad train. He asserted that he was badly hurt, given up for dead, and only through the lucky twist of one finger while lying on an undertaker's slab ready for embalming, was the fight begun to save his life, which was successful after about a year in a hospital.

Although Alex has turned 50, he is still as straight and vigorous as 10 years ago. A very live corpse of 10 years' standing.

GENERALS STATE ARMY TO BATTLE CORN BORER MET

Begin Laying Plans of Fight Against Pest in Chicago Today

Chicago, Jan. 14.—(AP)—The apparently harmless little grayish-brown worm that worked its way west across the Indiana-Illinois line and took refuge in a corn stalk, only to be discovered by a diligent farmer, who immediately broadcast the presence of the European invader in new territory, was the cause for a conference here today of the state corn borer commission.

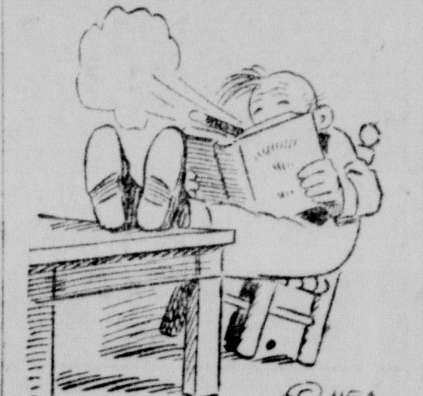

Funds necessary to fight the destructive pest moving from the east at an average rate of about 25 miles a year, plans of instructing farmers of immediate danger and other details were to be worked out by the committee.

George A. Fox, secretary of the Illinois Agricultural Association and chairman of the committee, announced that no action would be taken or legislation proposed until reports had been made by the state entomologists and state officials regarding needs. The committee in its discussions today, he said, would discuss all phases of the work of destruction of the borer.

A meeting of agricultural interests was held in December and Mr. Fox was asked to appoint a committee to take charge of the work. He selected Wesley P. Flint, state entomologist at Urbana; M. A. Graettinger of Chicago, secretary of the Illinois Bankers Association; Omar H. Wright, Delvidere, representing the Illinois Chamber of Commerce; Ralph Brown, Rockford, Illinois Canners Association; Luther Fuller, Danville, agriculture agent for the C. & E. I. Railroad; and C. P. Staudard of the State Agricultural Department. The meeting today was the first for the committee.

A preliminary report made by Mr. Griffith at a Board of Directors meeting recently shows that applications for more than $300,000 of farm loans have been made through the association during the past year.

CRAZED PATIENT CHOKED NURSE TO MAKE HIS ESCAPE

Died Soon After Being Recaptured and Returned to Bed

Edward Silanpla, who Wednesday night choked one of the Sisters of Mercy at St. Mary's hospital in DeKalb while in a delirious condition, and then jumped through the second story window of the institution and attempted to enter several homes near the hospital before he was recaptured, died at the hospital Thursday afternoon. Death resulted from the delirious attack and exposure.

Silanpla has been critically ill with pneumonia. Suddenly he became delirious during the night and attacked the nurse in charge, choking her, and then jumping from the second story window to a fire escape. The sister was not injured seriously, but was unable to recover quickly enough to prevent the man from jumping through the window.

Silanpla did not wait to open the window leading from the second floor of the hospital, but jumped through the glass. He suffered a severe cut on one leg, and also was cut about the hands and head.

After reaching the fire escape of the first floor, Silanpla raced madly down the escape and into the street. He went from one house to another in that section of the city and tried to enter by forcing the front doors.

Many Are Frightened

The police department received several calls in the space of a few minutes of a crazy man who was trying to break into houses. At about the same time a call was received from the St. Mary's hospital to the effect that a man had choked the nurse so as to be able to make his escape and was at large.

The officers did considerable searching before they found him attempting to force his way into a house.

The officers have some little trouble in subduing the man without the use of clubs before they could get him back to the hospital. A coat was thrown over him and he was then forcibly taken back to the institution.

Big Patronage at Scout Dinner Sure

A fine opportunity to aid the Girl Scouts troops of Dixon and vicinity and at the same time to receive more than value received, is given the people of the community tomorrow noon, when a benefit dinner for the organization will be served at the Y. M. C. A. from 11 a. m. to 1 p. m.

The organization of Dixon women sponsoring the Girl Scouts finds pressing need for financing the Scout work and it is hoped that local people will give liberal support.

Rehabilitation of Flooded Farmers With Million Fund

Chicago, Jan. 14.—(AP)—An appropriation of $1,000,000 for rehabilitation of farmers driven from the lands by the high waters of the Illinois river is provided for in a bill to be introduced in the state legislature next week.

"The flood situation along the valley of the Illinois river has reached a point where the Illinois legislature must come to the rescue, said J. P. Kerr, president of the Association of Drainage and Levee Districts of Illinois who came to Chicago today from his home at Versailles to enlist Chicago support for the bill.

Originally some 225,000 acres were under water and the latest figures of the Red Cross estimated 140,000 still flooded.

PEACE MOVES SUPPLANTING WAR "JINGO"

Easement in Nicaraguan and Mexican Crisis Seen in Capital

Washington, Jan. 14.—(AP)—Peace appeals and other moves looking toward re-establishment of tranquil conditions in Nicaragua and more cordial relations between the United States and Mexico have developed both here and abroad and have seemed to temper the tense atmosphere by supplanting talk of possible war.

That the United States inaugurates a campaign of peace and "abolish the idea of force" in dealing with the Central American nations was urged in an address in the senate yesterday by Chairman Borah of the foreign relations committee.

Dispatches from Costa Rica say that liberal and conservative residents there have set up a committee to aid President Jimenez of that country in working for peace in Nicaragua where the American recognized president, Adolfo Diaz, is opposed in warfare by Juan B. Sacasa, liberal with Mexican recognition.

Report Sacasa Outing

Another angle on the situation was given in unconfirmed reports circulated in Managua that Sacasa was leaving Puerto Cabezas believing it hopeless to continue his opposition to Diaz in view of the American action in landing naval forces there.

Indications today were that debate in congress would not terminate with Senator Borah's address even though the house foreign affairs committee had indefinitely suspended sessions after refusing to call Secretary Kellogg.

The house was asked in a resolution today by Representative Moore, democrat, Virginia to go on record that there is "nothing in the Mexican situation which would justify the severance of our diplomatic relations" with that government or forcible intervention in its affairs.

The administration policy in Mexico and Central America was assailed in democrat, Washington.

MEXICO WAITS ACTION

Mexico City, Jan. 14.—(AP)—Developments in the situation between the United States and Mexico now are believed to hinge on possible action by the Washington government. Among the possibilities seen here are withdrawal of the American ambassador and the lifting of the embargo on shipment of arms into Mexico by the United States.

Secretary Kellogg's declaration regarding communistic activities in Mexico aimed at the United States has drawn retorts from two high sources—Aaron Sazenz, the Mexican foreign secretary, and Ricardo Treviño, secretary general of the Regional confederation of labor the dominant labor group in this country.

The foreign secretary asserted that Mr. Kellogg's statement before the foreign relations committee of the American senate did not prove the charge that Mexico was attempting to establish a bolshevik hegemony in Latin America.

Senior Treviño replied to Secretary Kellogg in the form of a telegram in which he asserted that the Mexican labor movement was antagonistic, not friendly to communism.

METHODISTS WANT PEACE

Chicago, Jan. 14.—(AP)—Telegrams to President Coolidge and United States Senator Deneen of Illinois, urging there be no severing of diplomatic relations with Mexico, but that any differences between the two governments be referred to The Hague for arbitration were sent today by five leaders in the Methodist church work here.

The text of both telegrams was the same and read:

"Frankly that United States should sever diplomatic relations with Mexico. Earnestly urge Mexican controversy be referred for arbitration to The Hague Tribunal."

Seeks Donations for Addition to Hospital

The donation of $18.50 offering at the union services Thanksgiving day is greatly appreciated by the hospital board and the Katherine Shaw Bethel hospital. A children's ward has been arranged for in the new addition now in the process of construction. This money will be used to buy linen for the small beds in this ward. Donations to help in the furnishings for the new addition would be helpful indeed. Money could serve no better purpose.

JURY SELECTED TO TRY PASTOR IN MURDER CASE

Surprise Witnesses for State Promise of Prosecutors

Austin, Texas, Jan. 14.—(AP)—With a jury selected for the murder trial of the Rev. J. Frank Norris after three days, in which 112 veniremen were examined, the fundamentalist Baptist pastor conferred with his attorneys until late last night on the prosecution would open its case today by calling two surprise witnesses.

Names of the witnesses were understood to have been kept secret in support of the prosecution announcement that it had summoned persons who would require but a short time to disprove the defense contention that Dr. Norris shot and killed Dexter E. Chipps, wealthy Fort Worth lumberman in self defense.

Mrs. R. E. Parker of Fort Worth was subpoenaed by the state yesterday and was understood to be one of the witnesses expected to describe the appearance of the study of the Baptist church there shortly after Chipps was found dead near the pastor's desk.

Following the conference attorneys for Dr. Norris indicated they would rely on two purported eye witnesses to the slaying to prove the pastor shot only after Chipps threatened him.

A wooden model of the pastor's office and surroundings at the Fort Worth was introduced by the prosecution as its first evidence when the trial opened today.

Shows Church Interior

The model shows the second floor of the four-story building adjoining the church in which Chipps was killed. It shows the stairway up which he climbed to his death last July 17, the ante room he entered before approaching Norris and the office in which he was shot three times as he protested to the pastor against attacks on Mayor H. C. Meacham of Fort Worth.

About fifty witnesses were sworn, Mayor Meacham did not respond when his name was called, but Attorney McLean of prosecution said he was in town and would appear soon.

Ardent Patron of Music Affairs is Mrs. Coolidge

Washington.—(AP)—Mrs. Coolidge has qualified as one of Washington's most ardent music lovers.

She rarely misses an opportunity to hear a celebrated artist or orchestra, and has become a familiar figure at the concerts given here several times a week during the winter season.

Most of them are in the late afternoon, so that government employees can attend after their day's work. Hundreds of them do.

The President's wife usually sits in a box surrounded by a small group of friends, but recently she surprised matinee goers by choosing a seat in the orchestra at a dramatic offering.

The President finds little time for the theater or for concerts, although he occasionally goes to a night performance with Mrs. Coolidge. Artists frequently appear at the White House, however, one or more usually furnishing the entertainment after a state dinner.

Triplets, Twins, Six Calves, Three Mamas on Polo Farm

Polo.—Play time for calves out on the farm of John Messner ought to be a whole of a snappy time these days, what with triplets and twins, the little Shorthorns simply can't get lonesome. Dr. P. C. Dodge thinks that Mr. Messner deserves credit for having one of the most prolific Shorthorn dairy herds in this vicinity. Twin calves born December 13—a lucky day for them—are doing very well. Not to be outdone, another cow gave birth to triplets, January 5, according to Dr. Dodge. Mothers and babes are doing nicely. The sixth calf? The little fellow came the other day to keep the others company at play time.

Brookhart Acquired of "Lobbyist" Charge

Washington, Jan. 14.—(AP)—Senator-elect Smith W. Brookhart, republican of Iowa, was exonerated today by the senate interstate commerce committee which inquired into intimations presented by Senator Steck, democrat of Iowa, that Brookhart was a "paid lobbyist" for farm organizations and for Cyrus E. Woods, nominated as Interstate Commerce Commissioner.

JUDGE LINDSEY DARES PASTORS TO DEBATE HIM

Impressive of Matrimonial Institution Subject He Suggests

Denver, Colo., Jan. 14.—(AP)—Judge Ben B. Lindsey has challenged Denver ministers who have criticized his views on marriage to meet him in public debates.

The Denver juvenile court judge said he would hold the challenge open for 30 days "as any pastor who takes me up will need considerable time to read up on his subject."

He proposed the question for debate should be, "Resolved that the Institution of Matrimony Can be Improved by Man."

Judge Lindsey said the attacks at first aimed him but that "patience finally ceased to be a virtue" and that he desired a show down.

This challenge follows a recent exchange with members of the Baptist Ministers Association at Knoxville, Tenn., in which the pastors charged he advocated free love in a series of magazine articles. The clergymen passed resolutions advocating barring Judge Lindsey from speaking at Knoxville in April.

Judge Lindsey characterized their charges as "pish, tush and poppycock" and declared he would speak as scheduled.

RECORD SALE OF SEATS SURE FOR "ROLLING ALONG"

Kiwanis' Production to be Success in Every Way, Indication

Tonight at 7:30 at the Dixon Theatre those holding "courtesy tickets" for the Kiwanis production "Rolling Along" may secure ten tickets each, should they require that number. Indications point to a record sale, it is anticipated greater than was the sale of tickets for "Let's Go Peggy."

The out of town demand has been very large, reports the ticket committee. Those who were unfortunate in not seeing "Let's Go Peggy" last year, will undoubtedly take advantage of the opportunity of witnessing a real big wonderful show this year. Mr. Darnaby and Miss Runyan have established a confidence among the amusement loving people of Dixon that should sell out both houses before the doors open. While it is the talent of Dixon and their willingness to serve the public and support the Kiwanis club, that makes such an unusual show possible, still without beautiful scenery, costumes, management and direction a professional show such as "Peggy" was conceded, would be out of the possibilities.

It is a knowledge of the conscientious efforts put forth in staging a big show that insures the public a musical revue worthy of their time and the money they spend.

DeKalb Club Coming

The Kiwanis club of DeKalb increased their order for tickets to sixty-four for the opening night. This is an evidence of the interest in things worth while. That number of prominent people from a nearby town do not ride so far uncertain of what they are going to witness. Dixon has only one big show of this character each season and its pretty safe to predict, those able to be out, will witness the big event.

That never tiring human speedometer, Ray Kline, has been to a very great degree responsible for the selecting and producing of the largest crowd ever assembled in one entertainment in Dixon. No condition, brought about through unexpected barriers, has served to retard his progress, no disappointments have in any manner dampened his ardor, and in working out this great local problem for Kiwanis, he has proven invincible. That seems to be the prevailing opinion among those who have come daily in contact with all he and the committee have accomplished.

Meets Fine Spirit

Speaking of the fine unselfish spirit and the real man that is always expressed by action and not bla, Mr. Darnaby said: "Illness has demanded that a man come forth and do that thing in four days that others were given eight in which to accomplish; misplaced judgment in the dependability of others, has necessitated calling upon those whose interest in the worth while undertakings of a community are uppermost always in every undertaking, for this has been a big cast demanding much from so many; those capable of doing bigger parts have accepted without comment, parts commonly termed by directors as 'bits' musicians and singers having the best interests of the city of Dixon and its people at heart, have

MERCURY FELL 17 DEGREES IN TWELVE HOURS

Cold Wave Sent Register to 2 Below Zero Early This Morn

A drop of seventeen degrees in the temperature in Dixon in the twelve hours between 6 o'clock Thursday evening and 6 o'clock this morning was recorded by the government thermometer at the Shuck & Bates grocery store, Lincoln Way and Upham Place, the mercury in which registered 15 above zero at supper time last evening and 2 degrees below at 6 this morning. The snow storm came to an end during the early afternoon, and today all main highways out of Dixon were open to traffic, with the state highway department forces removing the snow from the pavements on the state routes.

STORM SWEETEST EAST

Chicago, Jan. 14.—(AP)—Snow storms that piled the central states deep, swirled on toward the Atlantic seaboard today while another of winter's barrages crept down the eastern slopes of the Rockies.

Buried Under Snow

Central Illinois was buried deep with close to 20 inches of snow on the ground in some localities and in Chicago an army of 3,000 labored all night to keep traffic open. Three men were killed while attempting to keep traffic moving and two others died of exposure.

Action Against Other Industries Hinted by Gov't.

Detroit, Mich., Jan. 14.—(AP)—Possibility of action against other industries on whose stock Daniel C. Roper, when commissioner of Internal revenue, placed valuations for income tax assessments in advance of sale of the stock, was reflected today in evidence in the record of the government's tax case here involving former stockholders of the Ford Motor Company.

Probability of further government action hinges around the correctness of the method used by Roper in computing intangible assets of some industries for the purpose of levying against profits to be made by sale of the stock.

P. S. Talbert, former government employee who made the audit of the Ford company prior to sale of the stock around which the Ford dispute centers, testified that the earning capacity of the stock was combined with its sale value in making the assessment valuation, the general rule being that the valuation per share equalled about ten times its earning capacity.

Parents Confident Son Lost Life in Gang War

Harrisburg, Ill., Jan. 14.—(AP)—After vain efforts to find Bert Owens, his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Lige Owens, said here today they were virtually certain he was one of the four who lost their lives in destruction of the Burger road house Saturday night. Owens is known to have been an employee of Charles Birger, gang leader, and Jimmy Sims has informed Mrs. Owens that her son was at the resort when Sims left there shortly before the fire. Owens has not been seen since.

Antigo, Wis., Runaway Youth is Apprehended

Yesterday afternoon at the Illinois Central depot Orville met, for the first time, Chief of Police J. D. Van Bibber, with the result that he is being detained at the police station awaiting the arrival of an officer from Antigo who will return him to his home.

Forerunners That Sometimes Ran

Here's a glimpse of the first automobile show ever held in the world. It was in old Madison Square Garden, New York City, just 27 years ago. Those were the days when old Dobbin, still going strong after 20,000 miles, indulged in a horse laugh every time he passed one of the outlandish contraptions. Note the walled track that encircled the arena. There each model was taken to demonstrate that it actually would run. Spectators, of course, were safely ensconced in the balconies.

First Games of League Schedule Played Thursday P. M.

The first game of the grade school basket ball league was played yesterday afternoon and was thrilling sport every minute of the game. The E. C. Smith won a very tight and hard fought game from the South Central Cafers. With Herbert Gleason as Referee, and Physical Director John Hunt in behalf of the club with a Schafer desk set. Mr. Hunt, in responding, stated that the Hi-Y Club is the organization in the "Y" that stands closest to his heart.

At the conclusion of yesterday's program, Carl Buchner, representing the club, spoke of the retiring General Secretary of the Y. M. C. Mr. Hunt, in responding, stated that the Hi-Y Club is the organization in the "Y" that stands closest to his heart.

There were about 200 enthusiastic rooters. Indeed, the cheering was so loud that at times the referee's whistle could not be heard. The E. C. Smith, crowd had a real honest-to-goodness reader too. Boy, talk about pep. All the same, the South Central delegation didn't have any lung trouble. The game was exciting from the very start and the score stood 6 to 4 at the half with South Central in the lead. In the second half things changed a bit. E. C. Smith changed their line-up and you should have seen those boys play. Both teams put out their best and the score was a tie 12 to 12, with only 2 minutes to play. Then about thirty seconds before the end of the game Blackburn, of E. C. Smith, sunk a beauty. The game ended with E. C. Smith in the lead, 14 to 12.

OLD MASTERS

OUTRE MER—
I've never visited that land
Of slow sweet things
Beyond the sea;
Her shores with stores of memories
Rich and grand
Still wait for me;
Yet I need only close my eyes
And I can see
Her honey-colored planets rise in skies
Where day's delight to night still clings,
And shadows falling like a dream
Across some Andalusian stream
That sleeps and sings:
And I can feel the air that steal
Like heavy bees above some garden wall
Where orange trees stand tall and all
Their gold reveal,
And watch the hours like flowers
That bloom and fall
In old Castile
O loveliness that must be Spain,
Why do you rise for me so plain
And call my fancy so?
Familiar always and all fair—
Is it because once long ago
I had a castle there?
—Anna G. Winslow, in "The Long Gallery."

Were Wed in Polo Wednesday

A quiet wedding of interest to the people of Milledgeville and Chadwick and to friends of the couple in other communities took place in Polo Wednesday, when Miss Clara L. Hawkins, daughter of Mrs. Mary A. Hawkins, of Milledgeville, became the bride of Mason M. Spaulding, also of Milledgeville. The Milledgeville young people were united by Rev. Wm. E. Thompson, pastor of the Church of the Brethren, at his home at 4:00 o'clock. They were attended by Miss groom and John Dodson, a friend.
Immediately following the ceremony Mr. and Mrs. Spaulding left on a wedding trip to Aurora where they will visit the bride's uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Read, and other friends and relatives. On their return to Milledgeville they will live on a farm. The newlyweds will be at home to their friends after March 1.
The bride, who was attired in a dress of French blue crepe, has been an employee of the Mutual Telephone company of Milledgeville, for the last two and one-half years. She attended the schools of her home community. The groom attended the Chadwick schools. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Roger Spaulding, farmers of the Milledgeville community.

Gordon McNicol Wins Scholarship

Two freshmen, Ralph Heineman and Gordon McNicol, were awarded scholarships upon the recommendation of Prof. John B. Spense, head of the committee on freshman scholarship.
These scholarships are additional to the ones that were announced last week.
The awards were received after a competitive examination among fifty students who had received scholarships from the university during their senior year in high school. The original amount was $100, divided equally on the tuition of both semesters. The additional prize to $50.

The above is a clipping from the Daily Northwestern at Evanston.
The fifty holders of scholarship in the freshman class were eligible to try for this additional $50 in a competitive examination covering English, mathematics and a foreign language.
Twenty out of the fifty took the examination and seven were granted additional scholarships.
All agreed that the foreign language test was the most difficult.

WARTBURG LEAGUE MEETS TUESDAY EVENING
Wartburg League meets Tuesday evening at 8:00 o'clock at Immanuel Lutheran church.

Menus for the Family

BREAKFAST—Grape fruit sections, cereal, thin cream, fried cornmeal mush, syrup, crisp graham toast, milk, coffee.

LUNCHEON—Potato and turnip puree, toast sticks, open lettuce sandwiches, canned peaches, sponge cake, milk, tea.

DINNER—Baked turban of fish, tartar sauce, scalloped potatoes, buttered parsnips, cabbage and celery salad, pineapple cream pudding, bran rolls, milk, coffee.
After parsnips have been frozen they are much better than if dug before the frost penetrates through the ground. The flavor, as well as the texture of the vegetable is improved if you use parsnips early in the fall without success, try them now and notice the difference.

Potato and Turnip Puree
Four white turnips, four potatoes, 2 tablespoons butter, 2 bouillon cubes, 1 blade celery, 2 tablespoons flour, 2 teaspoons salt, 1/2 teaspoon pepper, 4 cups veal stock or milk, 2 hard cooked eggs.

Choose small turnips and potatoes and boil until tender. Put through a vegetable ricer and rub through a coarse sieve. Melt butter with bouillon cubes and celery very finely minced. Stir in flour mixed with salt and pepper. When perfectly blended, slowly add stock or milk, stirring constantly. Bring to the boiling point and add rice vegetables. Stir and bring again to the boiling point. Pour in a cup of turnip and add hard-boiled eggs cut in slices. Minced parsley or tiny sprigs of cross sprinkled over the top of the soup adds to the attractiveness of the dish.

Annual Business Meeting of the Neighbourly Class

The annual business meeting of the Neighbourly class of the Methodist church was held last evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Jarvis Leake, on East Second street. In spite of the inclement weather and heavy unbroken snow, there were thirty-five in attendance and felt well repaid for the effort made.
The class officers were elected for the year as follows:
Teachers—Dr. A. H. Burr, President—L. B. Neighbour
Vice President—Henry Floto
Secretary—Mrs. Alice Anderson
Assistant Secretary—Mrs. Herbert Scott
Treasurer—George Swartz
Assistant Treasurer—Herman Missman.
The committee chairmen were elected as follows:
Entertainment—Mrs. A. E. Taylor
The Sick—Mrs. Jarvis Leake
Reception—A. E. Taylor
Membership—Mrs. Henry Floto
Devotions—Mrs. H. Missman.
E. E. Winger gave a most inspiring and sympathetic talk on the sick and shut-ins of the class membership, there being three who are ill at the present time, Mrs. Henry Hintz, Mrs. Van Etnyre and Mrs. H. Missman.
Brief talks of interest relative to the class work and progress were given by Rev. A. W. Carlson, pastor of the church, and C. C. Hintz, superintendent of the M. E. Sunday school.
Dr. A. H. Burr, teacher of the class, gave an especially interesting paper on "The Proofs of Immortality," which was greatly enjoyed.
Enjoyable readings were given by Mrs. Margaret Floto, and Mrs. Hubert Fahren, daughter of the host and hostess.
Delicious refreshments were served and after a parting song, the guests departed at a late hour for their homes, each with the happy memories of warm hospitality extended them by their host and hostess, Mr. and Mrs. Leake and their daughter, Mrs. Fahren.

Joint Installation, U. S. W.V., Auxiliary

About a hundred couples enjoyed a delightful evening's entertainment last evening at the Dixon Elks club. One of the popular basket suppers was served at 6:30, which always attracts a large crowd, and about 250 partook of an excellent supper which was served by a special committee of Elks ladies headed by Mrs. David Kelly. Dancing was the diversion of the evening following the supper and despite the inclemency of the weather, was attended by a large crowd.

For years and years and years we grew our winter narcissus bulbs in bowls of plain gravel or sand. It seems that we were affronting the sensibilities of ourselves and others most grossly. This year they are selling rainbow effects of gorgeously colored mixed gravel—purple and rose and gold and yellow and green, all mixed up in a glittering, glowing array. Yes, it costs four or five times as much as plain gravel or sand, but four out of five buy it—no one must do things right!
"A WOMAN"
This is the simple title of a page article in a current magazine by Edward W. Bok, former editor of "The Ladies Home Journal," and as such, probably qualified more or less to know what women are and what they want. At least, he once knew, perhaps. He is an older man today and he no longer edits a great woman's magazine. The old question of cause and effect. Maybe, as an older man, he no longer understands younger women, which may be why he no longer edits the magazine. On the other hand, perhaps because he is no longer in touch with the women of a country, he does not understand them. Maybe some of you think that he does.
Anyway, this article is thus subtitled:
"Here's an article strong enough to make the modern woman take notice."
"LISTENED WELL"
This great, fearless, triumphant article simply said, as hundreds of thousands of men have said it in simpler ways before and with much less effort and taking of good white

The WOMAN'S DAY by Allene Sumner

EASILY FLEECE

Tales of "how women are fleeced" feature the reports of Better Business commissions and such organizations. They tell the house-knitter story, for instance. Millions of women bought these machines, lured by the ad which said that they could make big money at home, put the children through college, and raise the mortgage on the house. The ad explained that the firm would buy as many hosiery as the woman could make at a price which sounded high when computed with the number of hosiery the ad said they could make a day.

The catch in it was that the firm reserved the right to accept or reject hosiery on the score that they were not "perfect," sending them back to the knitter with more yarn "to try again."

OUTRAGED SPOUSES

What a chorus of outraged husbands tenored and bussed about their "fool women folks" and the knitter! Wrapped in the usual male smugness, they lost the point entirely—the point that hundreds of thousands of American women are willing to work with tooth and nail for their home and their flock, to give them luxuries and even necessities that the father cannot give. The very number of "fleeced women" stories practically proves the womanly urge to "do something," to "get ahead," and atone, perhaps, for the father's lack of ambition.

HAIR MAKES THE MAN

Sideburns, moustaches, goatees and all types of hirsute trimmings garnish the face of Paul Shanklin, an Illinois miner, because he viewed that as long as his wife "copped men's stuff" and had her hair bobbed, he'd in turn "cop" the ladies' stuff and have his hair long.
In the same day's news, a beautiful actress says that she keeps her hair long because men resent the short-haired woman and she wants their love and friendship.

GLASS AND BLOSSOMS

For years and years and years we grew our winter narcissus bulbs in bowls of plain gravel or sand. It seems that we were affronting the sensibilities of ourselves and others most grossly. This year they are selling rainbow effects of gorgeously colored mixed gravel—purple and rose and gold and yellow and green, all mixed up in a glittering, glowing array. Yes, it costs four or five times as much as plain gravel or sand, but four out of five buy it—no one must do things right!
"A WOMAN"
This is the simple title of a page article in a current magazine by Edward W. Bok, former editor of "The Ladies Home Journal," and as such, probably qualified more or less to know what women are and what they want. At least, he once knew, perhaps. He is an older man today and he no longer edits a great woman's magazine. The old question of cause and effect. Maybe, as an older man, he no longer understands younger women, which may be why he no longer edits the magazine. On the other hand, perhaps because he is no longer in touch with the women of a country, he does not understand them. Maybe some of you think that he does.
Anyway, this article is thus subtitled:
"Here's an article strong enough to make the modern woman take notice."
"LISTENED WELL"
This great, fearless, triumphant article simply said, as hundreds of thousands of men have said it in simpler ways before and with much less effort and taking of good white space, "woman's place is in the home."

He held for public example as the greatest woman of all times— Ruth, who cleaved to her mother-in-law.

HE WRITES—

"Ruth could so easily have been a pioneer in woman's 'independence' and found some unfitted task in the outer world. But the 'self-expression' which has led so many women into worlds they know not, to places which they adorn not, and to tasks unfitted and unfulfilled, was not in Ruth's mind."

"She looked closer. She hewed to the line. She found her 'self-expression' in the place close at hand, in the simple business of being a daughter."

"STAY HOME!"

Boiling it all down, Bok is saying that a real woman cleaves to only her own fireside and lets the rest of the world go hang.

That her one and only job is to work for husband, child, parent, and in-laws.

And with one dipping of the pen he tears down all those big and mighty things which the new woman has fought for with travail of spirit.

The lioness of the jungle will fight tooth and nail for her cub, her mate. The cave-woman wrapped in her reeking skin, did the same.

But it took centuries of thinking and living and loving and growing by slow inches from the state of the brute to the state of civilization to make women of fine perceptions, women of vast hearts, women of keen mind, women of eager endless energy, ready to say "not only my child but all children—not only my man, but the men of all homes."

Curls And Other Coquetries Mark Return To Femininity

LITTLE CLOUDS OF CURLS, LUSTERS OF THE BACK OF THE HEAD

AN interesting motif running through some of the newest coiffures is that of the high dressed forelock, which is waved to stand a little above the rest of the hair, then either falling forward on the forehead or back, at the front-side, over the other straight hair. The waves are set fairly close together, and in one arrangement the very ends of the forelock are curled up into a tight little sausage roll effect. These tight little rolls appear frequently too at the sides of the hair from front to back, for instance; or low across the back of the head.

Another reason for the intricacies of curling that are creeping into the mode is the return of feminine fashion. The gay coquettishness of curls is but a simple manifestation.

The stern, almost male resignation to gray or graying hair is passing too. A new scientific hair tint which colors the inner fibres of the hair perhaps accounts for this. And in the flowing lines of gowns, in exquisite fabrics, ornate jewelry, decorative flowers, is seen likewise the trend back to femininity.

How sharply these contrast with the severity of lines and material that were so frequently and so excellently complemented only a season ago by the uncompromisingly plain masculine hair cut.

to make the community a better place to work in and make money in, the woman's club aims to make it a better town in which to live, to raise children, and to be happy.

"If the commercial association offers opportunity for successful business and some measure of financial prosperity, the woman's club offers opportunity to wives and daughters for investment in friendship, social contacts, mental stimulation and a feeling of being wanted and of being useful, which goes a long way, in creating contentment, especially in a new community."

"More than one wife and mother has been anchored in a new environment by being invited to join the woman's club, by having been given something to do in that club, by being made to feel that she is useful, and by having been shown a kind and friendly interest."

"For more than thirty years the club has been a civic and social force in the community. During the last few years, it has been reaching into wider fields, has interested a larger number of people and increased its membership to such an extent that it now has an enrollment of some 800 women."

"The departments cover those of education, literature, current events, study of youth, American home, business methods for women, legislative, philanthropic, the state in every day life and junior membership. Of these, business methods for women and junior membership have created particular interest."

THINGS WILL BE DIFFERENT WHEN HER SON MARRIES—

By Olive Roberts Barton
"Let justice rule your conduct every day.
For when you meet the judge, you'll need fair play."

"Every time Mrs. Brown goes in to that house, Dave Brown and his wife don't speak for a week after. It's another case of mother-in-law."

"How about Mrs. Brown's mother? She goes there and stays for weeks at a time. It's the difference in women, I suppose."

But there was no difference in the two mothers-in-law. Both were fine women, both had reared fine children. However, the neighbors were right. The visits of the husband's mother seemed to bring friction. The visits of the wife's mother never seemed to make much difference in the tranquility of the love nest.

Now there was a reason for the unfortunate endings of the Dowager Mrs. Brown's visits to son David. To begin with, women are usually jealous of other women. There we have sex psychology regardless of age or relationship. I have known mothers who made absolutely no protest about their sons going to war and facing annihilation, who failed utterly to be reconciled to their marriage.

We cannot help our human hearts or the passions that are as much a part of us as our breath. It is hard for a mother who has watched her baby boy grow and develop under her care to the perfect flower of his manhood, take another woman on his arm and walk down the rosy path of the future.

Mothers who lose daughters by marriage may have heartbreak, too, but it is a different kind of heartbreak. Their common interests of sex and family are still a strong tie, that in some cases grows with time. The mother of a married son goes into her son's house with the feeling that it belongs to another woman. Most young wives are too inexperienced to realize that one of the first things they should learn is exceeding patience with the mothers of their husbands. There may be a tremendous fight going on in the older woman's breast—a struggle she is trying hard to win. If she has a few minutes alone now and then with her boy, or even actually convinces to have him to herself, the wise young wife will tiptoe away.

Some day she may have a son! And she may deny herself everything on earth to make him a perfect being!

THE SENATE.

If the United States Senate can bar Col. Frank Smith, who has been designated by Governor Len Small to fill out the term of the late Senator McKinley, because they question his morals, why can they not bar a man because he chews tobacco, or has red hair or wears spats? The sovereign right of states to select their own representative in the national congress is being attacked by these "Holier than thou" solons who undertake to judge whether the people of Illinois have picked out the right kind of a Senator to represent them. The voters of Illinois elected Frank Smith after all of these bunk charges were made public and thoroughly aired. Now the United States Senate wants to insult the voters of Illinois by refusing admission to the man they have selected. Governor Small's action in appointing Col. Smith was certainly entirely proper in view of the decision of the voters.

If all of the members of the Senate were as sweet and pure as they would like the Senator from Illinois to be the situation would still be unchanged but one could find some apology for the Senate attitude. However, we strongly suspect that not all of the Senators who object to Smith are above reproach. We suspicion that the seats of some of them were secured in ways that would quite embarrass their possessors if exposed to the light of day.

In spite of newspaper reports we can not believe that the Senate will have the effrontery and the colossal impudence to bar from that body the chosen representative of this state.

DIXON AND THE WATERWAY.

With the coming of the new seaway and water shipping connection for the middle west with the Atlantic seaboard and the Gulf of Mexico, Dixon should and very easily can hook up with this great system and have a full share in the certain benefits that will follow. To fail this connection will mean a decided loss and disadvantage for Dixon and will subject us to a competition hard to meet. The waterway system will connect with the Rock River at Sterling and that city will automatically become a part of the system. Dixon can join in with a channel as deep as that planned for St. Paul and Kansas City with only a little dredging at this end.

All of the Rock River Valley should come in under the improvement. Rockford will surely be interested. Oregon and Byron would be benefited. Every resident of city and village and every farmer using these towns as shipping points would save money.

TALKING TO EUROPE.

It costs $25 a minute to talk from New York to London over the new trans-Atlantic radio telephone system, but the "line is busy" news had to be given almost at the start.

Dozens who fought for the chance to spend their $25 a minute were told that their names would be put on file and it might be possible for them to "chew the rag" with a London friend in a day or two.

Novelty, of course, explains much of the demand. The human ego gets much relish out of being first in anything epochal.

Business demands explain some more. But granting both reasons, here's wagering that sentimentality explained the bulk of the business.

The big business man wanted to say "Hello, mama" to mama in London.

Wife, daughter, sweetheart, son, sister, brother, father received, we wager, more calls than Union Hosiery, Inc., or Ltd.

MONEY? OH, PSHAW!

Lady Houston of London recently was willed six million pounds, about $30,000,000.

The will made the lady very miserable and unhappy. She began to give the money away. Oh, just small sums! Little bequests of $100,000 here and there—to the gardener, the housekeeper, to a nephew, a dear old lady she once knew.

"Money means absolutely nothing to me," she said, wearily and pathetically. "Why do I need money? I have my yacht and my gardens and my homes and my cars and horses and—"

Saying which, the lady took her interviewer through her palace to show her art treasures.

Probably he didn't dare laugh right out loud at all!

A seat certainly is becoming costly in this country, whether it's in the stock exchange, the board of trade, the theater or the Senate.

The Right Hon. Stanley M. Bruce, premier of Australia, says America is "indecently modest." That's the first hint we've heard that this country was bashful.

THE TINYMITES

BY HAL COCHRAN

READ THE STORY, THEN COLOR THE PICTURE

The snowhouse that the Tiniies made was strong enough so that it stayed in dandy shape, and sheltered them throughout the long, cold night. They'd grown quite tired from racing round and thus they all slept very sound till Coppy woke them up when came the dawn of morning light.

"Ho, hum," yawned Clowny. Then he stretched. "I think some food should soon be fetched. I guess 'bout all that we can do is try to catch some fish. There's nothing else to find out here, but even fish fills me with cheer. I know we're somewhere near a stream. I hear the water swish."

He then crawled right outdoors to look, and soon dropped in a line and hook. It wasn't very long until he'd caught a dandy string. The fish were cooked right up to taste, and not a morsel went to waste. Then all the Tiniies quite agreed that fish were just the thing.

(The Tiniies jump free of the iceberg in the next story.)

SAINT and SINNER

Bob Hathaway's eyes dropped for a moment before the scorn and anger and stricken love in Faith's voice and face.

"Churchill almost had me convinced, Faith, but before God, I believe Cherry is telling the truth. We'll stand by her, darling, in spite of the grand jury and in spite of Stephen Churchill's doubt of her innocence. She'll come out of this—triumphant, vindicated, because she's innocent. I'll spend every cent I can raise, borrow or steal, to clear her name, if that is necessary. Are you satisfied, Faith?"

The overwrought girl collapsed in his arms, realizing for the first time since Cherry's arrest that her sister's very life was at stake. Her cold fingers clung to his coat, but the face which she raised to Bob's was illumined with love and gratitude to him. "Thank you, Bob. I—I'm sorry—I spoke as I did."

"I don't have to remind you that nothing you say to me now can hurt me," Bob murmured tenderly. "And by the way, here's something that may mean a lot—and nothing." "What in the world?" Faith gasped, as he held up a short piece of old brown leather strap, the pointed end with holes punched at half-inch intervals. The bit of strap had been broken off at the widened hole by which it evidently had been fastened countless times.

"Awful looking thing, isn't it?" His voice was straining to be casual and natural. "I found it tonight der. "The thing makes me feel creepy somehow. Did you check up to see if it could have been lost by a servant or a policeman?"

"Wise girl!" he applauded, smiling at her. "Tony Salvatore, the gardener, swore that it had not been there before the snow began to fall, but of course he might easily overlook a little thing like that. But he's positive that it was broken from nothing connected with my uncle's house or grounds. I thought at first it might be a piece of a cop's belt or from the strap on which a cop's billey swings. But the billey's are carried on a leather thong, not at all like this, and the belts for the gun holsters fasten with a wider strap. I managed to find out without giving my secret away. There's just one thing that occurs to me," he frowned at the bit of strap, as if trying to force it, by power of his will, to give up its secret.

PEOPLE'S COLUMN

ENGLISH LECTURE COURSE
BERLIN UNIVERSITY

To the Dixon Telegraph—This course of lectures is under the directorship of Professors Debelius, and Brandl, of the Berlin University. The students interested in the study of the English language, and all others who desire to hear, are invited every Friday evening to a large hall seating from five to six hundred, and frequently the standing room is at a premium.

As a rule, the lecturers are either Englishmen or Americans; occasionally a foreigner is invited to speak through an interpreter.

Subjects of the Lectures.

Last month it was my privilege to attend four of these lectures. All the speakers were Englishmen. The first was a Catholic priest. He had been a minister of the Church of England, but he became disgusted with its lame-duck orthodoxy. So he "shook the dust off his feet against the Establishment in the Catholic fold." It seems to me he had better waited awhile, since he remarked in the same connection, that "The Church of England was rapidly tending toward Catholicism." He made no allusion to the Non-Conformist Churches, which constitute the most aggressive religious forces in England today. The second speaker took for his subject, "The Coal Strike in England." He said, the Government took the matter in hand, and finally succeeded in adjusting the differences and putting a stop to the strike, but not entirely satisfactory to the Labor organizations.

The third speaker undertook to elucidate "The Complicated Politics of the British Empire." He spoke with conscious gratification of the new era that had dawned upon the British Commonwealth. That henceforth the British Colonies should be free and empowered with self-government, under one Federal Head—the Crown of England. He remarked that if Canada should decide to join the United States of America, England would do nothing to oppose it. It occurred to me just then, to ask the question "Why is Ireland denied the same privilege?" But I am glad I held my tongue, since it might have stirred up an unpleasant discussion. The fourth speaker, Mr. Wickham, correspondent of the London Times, aroused peculiar interest by discussing the live subject, "Germany and the Future of Europe." He claimed it was a happy day among the powers of Europe when Germany joined the League of Nations. International fear is the hideous ghost that is threatening the peace and prosperity of Europe. The nations are afraid of each other. They must maintain an expensive armament to defend themselves against their hostile neighbors. This statesman of wide experience delivered a masterly address. He had occupied posts of responsibility in all the great capitals of Europe. He was familiar with the rulers and the politics of the different nations. He made some allusion to the arbitrary demands of Austria upon Serbia, and to some features of military despotism in general, which did not go down very well with some of the Germans present. After each lecture an opportunity is given to ask questions, which resulted in such a lively discussion, on this occasion, as to require the quieting admonitions of the professor in charge.

McNARY-HAUGEN BILL REPORTED; FACES A FIGHT

Party Lines Parted in Committee Vote to Report Measure

Washington, Jan. 14—(AP)—Farm relief legislation has advanced to the semi-final stage in the House and it remains only for the rules committee to decide the time for a decision.

The winner of the long struggle in the committee elimination contest is the McNary-Haugen bill, carrying the controversial equalization fee, and the manner in which it was voted upon yesterday by the house agriculture committee indicates a bitter fight when it reaches a vote in the house itself.

The committee voted 13 to 8 to report the measure, but party lines parted, with four republicans joining as many democrats in opposition and eight republicans to five democrats supporting it.

The fight is expected to center around the equalization fee which would be levied on basic farm commodities to take care of surpluses. Among those in favor of the fee are southern democrats, but they do not want it imposed on cotton for two years, holding the industry could not stand such a levy until that time.

SPORTS OF ALL SORTS LOSS OF GAMBLE SEVERE BLOW TO ILLINI QUINTET

Wachowski, Sophomore, to Take Place at Guard Position

Urbana, Ill., Jan. 14.—"Ty" Wachowski, sophomore, is the most likely selection to succeed Don Gamble at guard when the University of Illinois basketball team engages Ohio at Columbus Saturday and Michigan at Ann Arbor Monday.

Wachowski, a Chicago product, stands 5 feet 10 inches and weighs 155 pounds. It will be a stiff test for him but Coach Ruby has considerable confidence in him. If Wachowski finds the going too rough, Lind, McKay and Stewart are all possibilities for reinforcements.

The loss of Don Gamble for nearly all the season is one of the worst pieces of luck which Ruby has encountered in his coaching career. Gamble was troubled with a bad arch and at Northwestern turned his foot just the right way to break a small bone. It is possible that Gamble will be available for the last three games of the schedule but that is small comfort.

Illinois' prospects were considered none too brilliant but victories over Minnesota and Northwestern were regarded as encouraging. Against Ohio and Michigan the Illini are likely to be fighting uphill. Ruby will entrain his squad of ten men Friday night for Columbus. The lineup will probably be: Capt. Daugherty and Dorn, forwards; Lindsay, center; Reynolds and Wachowski, guards. Green may break into the game as forward.

Meanwhile the home fans are waiting eagerly for the first conference game here, against Iowa on Jan. 22.

BOWERS' SQUADS IN FOUR GAMES IN COUPLE DAYS

Double Headers This Evening and Sat- urday Night

The Dixon high school basketball squads will get in double action this week, playing four games tonight and tomorrow evening. Both the light and heavyweight crews will go to Polo this evening and play a double header there. Last week, Dixon took both games of a twin bill from the Polo Apostles.

The real test comes tomorrow evening on the local floor when the Rock Falls squad will come to Dixon for a pair of games. The lightweights will open the evening's entertainment and this will be followed by the heavyweights contest.

Rock Falls met unexpected defeat at the hands of Milledgeville Wednesday evening on their own floor, 22 to 18. Over-confidence was attributed by Rock Falls fans as the reason for the defeat.

Betting Commissioner Plans to Sue Hornsby

St. Louis, Mo., Jan. 14.—(AP)—Refused a formal recognition of his claim, Frank Moore, a Port Thomas Ky., betting commissioner, today planned court action against Rogers Hornsby, member of the New York Giants and former Cardinal manager. Moore claims Hornsby owes him $90,500 for money advanced on race horse bets, a payment on an apartment house and other things. The betting commissioner had no success in two conferences with the baseball player yesterday.

FORMER DIXON MAN READY TO SWIM CHANNEL

Hugh Lynch Entered in Wrigley Contest in California

Avalon, Santa Catalina Island, Jan. 14.—(AP)—Daring and confidence taken into account, women entries in William Wrigley's $40,000 ocean marathon, which is scheduled to start here tomorrow, have as much of a chance to swim the 22 mile gap between Catalina Island and the mainland, as the men.

Mrs. Lottie Schoemmel of New York has complete confidence in her ability to negotiate the cold waters and carry off the $15,000 to be given the first woman who spans the channel.

The entry list has been augmented now to include 153 contestants. Of these 130 registered here. Mail entries have added 23 to the original total.

Editor's Note — Hugh Lynch, former Dixon man, is entered in the Catalina channel contest tomorrow.

Aaron Ward Coming to White Sox for Couple

Chicago, Jan. 14.—Aaron Ward, Yankee second baseman, has become a member of the White Sox as a result of a deal between the New York and Chicago American League clubs.

John Grabowski, utility catcher, and Ray Morehart, utility infielder, were sent to the Yanks in exchange for Ward. No money was involved in the transaction.

Ray Schalk, newly appointed White Sox manager, had been scouring the baseball world for some time for a second baseman to replace Eddie Collins.

Iowa Will Attempt to Hold Winning Streak

Chicago, Jan. 14.—(AP)—Iowa will attempt to keep up the winning streak in the Western Conference basketball race by trimming Michigan at Iowa City today. The game, originally scheduled for tomorrow night, was moved up a day as Iowa is dedicating its new $500,000 field house and about 12,000 visitors will be on hand for the program of sports.

The Hawkeyes, Illinois and Indiana share the lead each having won two games without a reverse.

Dempsey Will Seek Bout as Step to Meet Tunney

New York, Jan. 14.—(AP)—Jack Dempsey has yielded to the demand of Tex Rickard that he submit his title comeback hopes to at least one title fight, according to the former champion's eastern representative Leonard Sachs.

"Dempsey will string with Rickard," said Sachs, in announcing the dethroned king had abandoned his attitude of opposition to any bout other than a return match with Gene Tunney.

Terms have not yet been reached for Delaney's participation in the face for the next heavyweight champion ship battle.

Announce Thistlethwaite Successor at Northwestern

Chicago, Jan. 14.—(AP)—Northwestern University officials have postponed until Saturday their announcement of a head football coach to succeed Glenn Thistlethwaite, but it was reported on the campus today that the field of candidates has been narrowed to three men—Wallace Wade, University of Alabama; Gwynne Henry, Missouri's grid chief; and Ralph Jones, Lake Forest Academy. Thistlethwaite resigned last week to become head coach at Wisconsin.

Merger of Three Great Railroad Lines is Near

St. Paul, Minn., Jan. 14.—(AP)—A dream of railroad consolidation envisioned by James J. Hill, "The Empire Builder," 25 years ago, was a step nearer realization today.

Ralph Budd, president of the Great Northern Railroad, announced here yesterday that plans are "progressing" for the merger of the Great Northern, Northern Pacific and Chicago, Burlington & Quincy. Such a consolidation if effected would embrace a system of 28,000 miles. Details may be ready for presentation to the Interstate Commerce Commission soon.

According to Mr. Budd only "unforeseen problems" could prevent completion of the plans within three months.

GOV. FERGUSON CONTINUES HER PARDON "SPREE"

Prosecutors in Texas Seek to Delay Pass- ing Sentences

Austin, Texas, Jan. 14.—(AP)—Gov. Miriam Ferguson's clemency proclamation total today stood at 3242 while the district attorney of Dallas sought to join Harris and Bexar counties in discontinuing all criminal court sentences during the remaining five days of her term.

When informed that Governor Ferguson had maintained her daily average in issuing clemency orders yesterday by signing 31 full pardons and approving several paroles, District Attorney McGraw asked Dallas county district court judges to postpone sentencing of criminals.

The state legislature which has before it a bill to repeal the amnesty measure passed in 1924 restoring the political rights of James E. Ferguson, husband of the governor, who was ousted as governor in 1917, yesterday refused to confirm several appointments recently made by Mrs. Ferguson.

Handshaking Becomes Too Much for Royalty

London.—(AP)—On the eve of departure of the Duke and Duchess of York for their Australian tour it was calculated that the Prince of Wales had shaken the hand of more than $5,000 persons in the last five years and handshaking was a strain which no longer should be imposed upon royalty.

It is pointed out in the press that the Duchess though young and perfectly healthy, may not be able to withstand the exertions required at receptions during the six weeks the couple will be touring Australia and New Zealand. They leave here Jan. 6.

Medical experts have recalled that Queen Victoria and before her the Georges, the Sturges, and in fact the entire company of kings and emperors, knew nothing of the practice, and that it was King Edward who instituted the custom.

Hawaii plans to send a team to the Pan-Pacific swimming meet in Japan next summer. An Australian team also is expected to participate.

Other Communities Now Study Peoria Marketing

Springfield, Ill., Jan. 14.—(AP)—Informed that co-operative marketing by 849 Peoria dairymen, known as the Illinois Milk Producers' Association, has added $400 per day or approximately $144,000 per year to the purchasing power of farmers in surrounding territory, producers and distributors of other markets prepared today to study the "Peoria Plan."

A commission composed of farmers, dealers and others from Indianapolis will go to Peoria before the end of the month to study the co-operative marketing plan with a view to setting up a similar organization on the Indianapolis market, according to information reaching the Illinois Agricultural Association. The delegation will be headed by M. D. Nugent, manager of the Indianapolis Dairy Producers' Exchange.

On Jan. 20 a conference of producers and dealers will be held at Bloomington where the Peoria plan is being studied with the idea of adopting it for the market there. Bruce Rosello, of the Rosello Dairy Co., of Peoria has been invited along with A. D. Lynch, dairy marketing director of the Illinois Agricultural Association, to lead the discussion.

Six Sentenced to Gallows Spend Time Marking Off Days

Joliet, Jan. 14.—(AP)—Reading, playing cards, singing, marking the days off a calendar, and looking upon life with grim jocularity—such are the ways in which six men, scheduled to be executed Feb. 11, watch the inexorable march of the days in their cells in the death cage in the county jail here.

They live in mingled hope and optimism that their friends "will come through" with $2500 or more, with which to appeal their case to the supreme court. They are hopeful that tribunal will order a new trial.

Charles Duschowski, Walter Stalecki, and Charles Shader, occupy the death cage in the front of the county jail. In another "cage" in the rear are Robert Torrez, Bernardo Rice, and Gregorio Rizo; the latter three are Mexicans.

They are to be executed for the murder of Deputy Warden Peter N. Klein.

Torrez is known as the Mexican song bird. He entertains his fellow prisoners with English and Spanish songs.

British radio listeners want more jazz. They complain that one-third of the programs are lectures, discussions and dissertations.

Forty first-aid stations have been installed at busy traffic centers in London.

BEWARE THE COUGH OR COLD THAT HANGS ON

Persistent coughs and colds lead to serious trouble. You can stop them now with Creomulsion, a cod-liver oil emulsion that is pleasant to take. Creomulsion is a new medical discovery with two-fold action; it soothes and heals the inflamed membranes and inhibits germ growth.

Of all known drugs, creosote is recognized by high medical authorities as one of the greatest healing agencies for persistent coughs and colds and other forms of throat troubles. ## Good Thoughts for Good People

Men have always agreed that to stand for anything has meant to remain fixed and steadfast in loyalty thereto; that whatever the opposition or resistance might be, to stand must imply an immovable maintenance of allegiance. Paul understood full well that there is only one safe place to stand, and that is "in the Lord," and how impossible it would be to "stand fast in the Lord" if the desire were for any but the unselfish and unselfed purpose of standing for God!

Let us have faith that right makes might, and in that faith let us to the end dare to do our duty as we understand it.

Abraham Lincoln.

Be strong! We are not here to play, to dress, to drift; we have hard work to do, and loads to lift; shun not the struggle—face it; 'tis God's gift.

Maltbie Babcock.

We mutually pledge to each other our lives, our fortunes and our sacred honor.

Thomas Jefferson.

Wherefore take unto you the whole armour of God, that ye may be able to withstand in the evil day, and having done all, to stand. Stand therefore, having your loins girt about with truth, and having on the breastplate of righteousness.

Paul.

CHURCH OF THE BRETHREN

FRANKLIN GROVE
During the past season our church has had some unusual and long to be remembered experiences in the burning of our church house, May 17th, and the erection of a new one which we hope to dedicate by May 1st, 1927.

To the various committees who have borne the greater part of the responsibilities, it has been the course of much concern and anxiety. It has cost time, effort and money. At present it may be looked upon by many as a great misfortune but in future years it may be looked upon as a blessing in disguise, or at least that the loss sustained has been to a large degree been compensated by being better equipped and more advantageously located as a church to fill its mission and serve its constituency.

We have appreciated very much the privilege of using the camp ground, and the Lutheran church during the time we were without a house of worship. As the basement of our new

His friends are hoping for a successful career as pastor and executive head in the field here.

His messages have been given without fear or favor and God has been blessing them with the ingathering of precious souls. We are interested in your eternal salvation. Skeptics may sneer, enemies of the Cross may mock, while others may "think" it is all "talk" but the "Lord of God" is settled in Heaven forever and tells us that not only the plan of salvation is complete, but the work of redemption is done.

"It is finished" was the Saviour's cry on the Cross. He died, the guiltless for the guilty; thus being made a sacrifice for us. The curse of death, which rested upon the whole family, is lifted, and now by simple faith in the Crucified One, there is life in reach of all. Are you saved by His Blood? Accept Him before it is too late. We preach Christ crucified, risen, glorified and coming again. A living Saviour wants to save you.

Midweek Services Wednesday.
7:30 Prayer, praise and Bible study hour. A fellowship hour for the new converts especially. One of the means of grace for the child of God is the prayer service. Every member of the Church should avail themselves of the opportunity of fellowshiping with God's children.

Do you wonder why I love Him, Serve Him gladly every day, Why He's changed my earth to Heaven, Never leaves me night or day, Seers and sages may find wisdom, Great men may their greatness crave, But I'm lost in maze and wonder At the power of Christ to save.

A Church with a Message and a Welcome for all.

Luther League meets at 7:00 p. m. The Womens' Missionary Society met Thursday afternoon at the home of Miss Anna Emmert. To the credit of the ladies, there was a surprisingly fine attendance in spite of storm and drift. Being the first meeting of the year the study looked at facts and drew conclusions, forecasting resources and possibilities. Messages and discussions were of a nature to make thoughtful and inspire. It was an informing and profitable meeting. After the study and transaction of business, there was a social hour and refreshments. The hostesses were Miss Anna Emmert, Mrs. Elizabeth Emmert and Mrs. Maude Crawford. The latter two serving in place of their mothers—Mrs. M. E. B. Shippert and Mrs. Bishop. Though the storm was raging without, it was a very fine afternoon within.

10:45 A. M. Divine Worship. Sermon subject: The Believer's Obligation. It was so evident as to cause the pastor to remark last Sunday morning concerning the fine number of young people growing up in the church and taking an interest in its life and work. We are glad to note this fact and to encourage and invite even a greater number to our services. You are asked to remember the adjourned congregational meeting directly after the morning service.

STATE UNIVERSITY THIRD LARGEST IN U. S. REPORT SHOWS

California First, With Columbia Second in Number of Pupils

Urbana, Ill., Jan. 14.—(AP)—The University of Illinois is the third largest among American Universities for the current year, based on the number of full-time resident collegiate students for the first semester.

California is first, and Columbia is second. G. P. Tuttle, registrar at Illinois, announced the figures today. The totals will be increased in most instances with the second semester, but the ranking positions will hardly be changed. Mr. Tuttle's report covers the 24 largest schools of the country.

California, including its Southern branch, has 16,771 full-time students. Columbia of New York has 12,519 and Illinois 11,810. These three institutions ranked one, two and three last year.

Of the ten largest schools in the country, five of them are state universities in the Western Conference. The four in addition to Illinois are Minnesota with 10,319, Michigan with 8,597, Ohio 9,209 and Wisconsin 8,220. California in the extreme west, and Columbia, University of Pennsylvania, New York, and Harvard universities in the east are the remainder of the ten largest.

Some schools have shifted a bit in their ranking as to size since last year. Michigan has moved up ahead of the University of Pennsylvania for the fifth position the latter held last year; New York has taken seventh place away from Ohio state; the University of Pittsburgh has moved down from the fifteenth position last year to twentieth this time, and several smaller schools have shifted one way or another due to an enrollment different of as few as 12 students. The grouping of the 24 institutions is as follows:

University of California, Full time resident enrollment 16,771; Columbia University 11,810; University of Illinois 11,810; University of Minnesota 10,319; University of Michigan, 9,597; University of Pennsylvania, 9,483; New York University, 9,357; Ohio State Univ. 9,209; Univ. of Wisconsin 8,220; Harvard University 7,661; Univ. of Washington 6,851; Univ. of Nebraska 5,988; Univ. of Chicago 5,694; Cornell University 5,471 State University of Iowa 5,348; Syracuse University 5,148; Yale University 4,960; Northwestern University 4,948; Univ. of Texas 4,841 Univ. of Pittsburgh 4,836; Indiana University 4,066; University of Missouri 3,907; Washington Univ. 3,080; University of Oregon 2,971.

Bill Grimm's Progress

H.C. WITWER

Copyright, 1924, by Collier's, Weekly and G. P. Putnam Sons
"Bill Grimm's Progress" is a picturization by Film Booking Offices of America, Inc., (F. B. O.) of H. C. Witwer's stories of the same name.

SYNOPSIS
Bill Grimm, risen to the front ranks of heavyweight boxing, is signed to meet the champion, Barbara Baster in his fiancée and manager of his team; Carlton Herve, Pansy Pilkington (his fiancée) and Butch Ford, fight manager, are his friends. Herve and Pansy go with Bill and Barbara on their marriage trip the day of the fight. Jack Fairfax, Bill's enemy, tries to wreck them in his automobile.

I was afraid to wrestle the wheel away from him, for the speed at which he was travelling would have made the slightest slipup a case of "Good morning, St. Peter!" all around. I tried to reason with this crazy head, but I got absolutely nowhere. The only one which kept their head in what looked like the death car was my Barbara. Reaching forward from the back, she switched off the ignition with a sudden, unlooked-for turn of her hand. Fairfax swore savagely and moved his head—in time for his jaw to connect with my pay-off left hook!

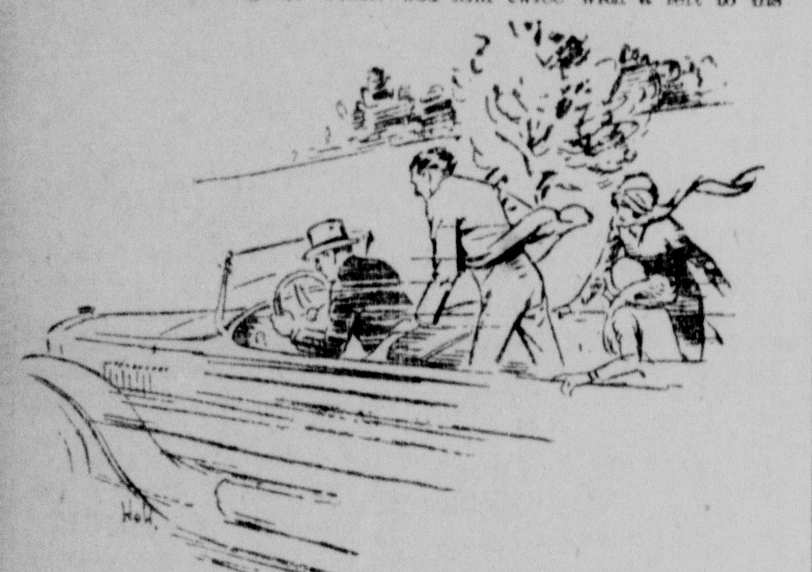

He slumped down in the seat a total loss, and I grabbed the wheel, bringing the car to a stop on the edge of a ditch. Married and nearly bumped off in the same hour, Pansy was two inches from a swoon, but Barbara and Herve talked her out of it. While they were engaged in that pastime, I dragged Fairfax out of the car, propped him up against a tree at the side of the road and left him there. I knew he'd be picked up soon—the reports of our wild dash through these little towns would take care of that! Then I jumped in, stopped on the starter and we continued our delightful journey to New York. All I had to do after that little nerve-testing thriller was to try and punch my way into the world's heavyweight title!

I nearly had to box Butch Ford first. My strange absence had him fit to be chained by the time I reached the dressingroom, after seeing that Barbara, Pansy and Herve got their ring-side seats.

piece blank! By instinct alone I deflected myself, for I hadn't the faintest idea of what was going on around me. Butch and my hand-lers realized I wasn't right, and during the rest they worked over me, frantically-dousing me with ice water, kneading the back of my neck and my temples and shoving the ammonia bottle halfway up my nose. None of this had the slightest effect, and with a world's title and the million which goes with it at stake Butch decided on storm measures. Between the fourth and fifth rounds my manager and seconds held me matches against my bare back, hoping the pain would shock me enough to clear the cobwebs from my head! A nice, clean sport, prize fighting—what?

Well, bawling my flesh did the trick! With the going for the fifth round I was one of my fiancée, my scorched back was punishing me plenty and I was raring to go. The champion tried a overhand left, which I blocked. He ducked a right to the jaw and drove me into a neutral corner with a storm of rights and lefts to the head. The ropes scraped against my raw back and stung me into a crazy rage. I hooked both gloves hard to the body and the champ bent over like a tree in a cyclone. "Bring it up, Bill!" chanted the mob in a booming chorus. I brought it up—a up-punch which put this mock orange on his shoulder blades! He took seven, and when he got up he dived into a clinch, a sorry-looking sight. The excited referee kept slapping me on the back and yelling for me to break, but he never said a word to the champ, which had both my gloves pinned to my sides with his arms. The crowd began giving the referee the bird, screaming for him to pull the champion off me and to make him fight. They seemed to be with me now to a man.

I finally wrestled myself free and took a solid drive in the stomach on the break. It was the hardest punch the champion had landed on me during the fight, and it buckled my knees. As he rushed in to take advantage of my distress, I established him twice with a left to his

I grabbed the wheel, bringing the car to a stop...

However, lack of time shut off Butch's bawling out and in a few minutes I was in the ring with my hand-lers, staring out at a surging ocean of excited faces. I got what is known as a ovation—the papers said the crowd stood up and cheered me for more than three minutes. The champ and his caretakers shoved their way down aisle shortly afterward to a scattering volley of handclaps, with plenty of razberries mixed in. So I rushed across the ring and met him in his own corner with a wicked left hook to the heart. He changed color and tried to clinch, but I kept him off the trigger and hard life to the body. The champ charged in desperately, and I saw my chance. I whipped a right to his chin, and he staggered, with the place in an uproar. He was short with a left to the head, and I put everything I had in stock into another right which landed smack on his mouth. The sock of the glove was still in the air when the champion toppled over with a crash!

The champion reached his feet at the count of four, fell into a clinch which I couldn't prevent and just hung there, out on his feet. He made a dying effort and clipped me on the right ear with a stiff punch, but I come back with a right to the button which floored him for the third knockdown. The referee had reached eight and the champ had reached one knee when the gong ended the round.

Well, all Mr. Champion had showed me was that he had freckles, and at the bell for the second round I ran out ready to end it. The champ was slow to leave his corner and I kept chasing him all around the ring, sporting for an opening for my right. He suddenly let go a left for my jaw, missed and tried a overhand right which caught me on the head.

A short, slicing right hook landed fair on my chin. I bet that wallop lifted me a couple of inches from the floor, and this sudden turn of affairs put the house in a frenzy. The punch didn't faze me, but it scrambled my brain! I didn't know what it was all about and there was a auto race going on in my head. Even the roars of the crowd seemed faint and many miles away. I suppose it was habit which enabled me to go into a shell and cover up, while the champion flailed away at me with both gloves in a furious attempt to slap me for a trip.

I finished that round and the third in a dream, my mind a combum eye. These two blows unbalanced him, but he charged in desperately, knowing full well that nothing but a knockout could save his title now. I missed a left hook, but connected with a right to the side of the head and again the champ fell to the mat, a beaten man if there ever was one! Eighty thousand maniacs gathered around the ring, was spitting the air with their roars. The heavyweight title was in my right glove—at last I'd reached the top of the heap!

Add this up! The champion staggered to his feet at nine, barely beating the count—in fact, many swore afterward he's actually been counted out on that fifth knockdown. I ran at him and let fly a right-hand punch just as the bell rang. I tried to pull the blow, but it landed on his jaw a split second after the gong. That's a thing which often happens in a bout where both boys are trying—you've seen it yourself. It's a technical foul, but never claimed or penalized even in a preliminary fight, as his delivery is purely a accident.

But the champ's hand-lers was smart! They knew I was going to knock their man, and they've been watching eagerly for any chance to save his title. So the instant my punch landed after the bell they jumped into the ring, bellowing "Foul!" Dazed and sick from the shellacking he'd just took, the champion then pulled one of the funniest ploys in the history of boxing. I guess me and my camp was the only ones which didn't see the giggle in it. What does this jazzbo do when he hears his seconds claim a foul but clap both gloves over his stomach and wink to the floor, twisting his face like he's in great agony. He holds his stomach and I'd clipped him on the jaw! Even the hard-boiled ringside referee was panicked by this one, but after a minute's hesitation the referee waves me to my corner, reaches down and holds up the champion's glove, giving him the fight on a foul!

Then, with a weird howl, Left Hook O'Brien took a punch at the referee, Butch Ford swooned and the crowd went amuck. When the last sweating fan had gone home the arena looked like a earth-quake hit it! All which was left of the ring itself was a little strip of bloody canvas. I'd played my hand out and been gyped out of a world's title. When Shifty Jones unclipped my gloves I stood at the ropes and hurled 'em as far from me as I could throw.

WHAT HAS GONE BEFORE

To the home of PROF and MOL-LIE ELWELL in Camdenville, Ind., one night in October of 1898, is brought a woman who had fainted on a passing train. That night twin girls are born to her and she dies without revealing her name.

The story then moves forward 18 years. The twins have been adopted and named MARGARET and ELIZABETH. They are called RUSTY and BETTY. JIM ELWELL, the son, enters in the World War. He then discovers that one of the twins loves him.

He is shell-shocked at Sedan and reported dead. Much later he is identified in a New York hospital. His parents hasten to him to find he has lost memory and speech. He is like a living dead man.

The day before his parents are to take him home, Jim wanders away from his nurse, NELLIE DOW-NING. Late that night he is found in Bellevue hospital, unconscious, his skull fractured, expected to die.

The twins are in Indianapolis at the home of their uncle, JOHN CLAYTON, the mystery of their identity having been cleared up while Jim was in France. Some time later Mollie Elwell writes to them, saying that Jim will live, but his memory will never come back. She advises them to go ahead with their contemplated European trip and forget about Jim. Elizabeth cries out at the cruelty of this.

NOW BEGIN THE STORY

CHAPTER XI

"BETTY" exclaimed John Clay-ton, running to the girl's side. "Betty, control yourself." But the hysterical Betty, sobbing violently, slumped into a chair and buried her face in her hands.

Martha Dalton knelt down beside her and put her arms around her. A significant look had been exchanged between Martha and John Clayton. Rusty watched her sister with a troubled face.

Martha was thinking: "The strain has been too much. One of them had to give way and betray their secret. I was right."

"Now, Betty," Martha Dalton was saying soothingly to the sobbing girl, "please don't take it to heart so. We're all disappointed and heart-broken to learn that Jim isn't going to get well as we'd expected. But, you mustn't hold it against Mollie for wanting Jim to get a thorough rest. It isn't selfishness on her part. You know that; Mollie Elwell never did a selfish thing in her life."

"It was just that Jim couldn't stand any excitement in his condition and Mollie didn't want any plans upset because of his inability to figure in them. I think it was the most unselfish thing in the world for Mollie to tell you to go ahead with your plans as if Jim—as if, well, it's hard to say and still harder to put in a letter. But we mustn't feel cross toward Mollie, dear."

Rusty moved over toward her sister. "I felt just the same way as Betty did about it at first," she told John Clayton, "only I didn't give way as she did. Oh, Uncle John, just because we've been heart-broken you mustn't think we were as thoughtless as—as you apparently did that day you talked to us. It's been almost more than we could bear and we've been broken-hearted. First about Jim and then about Mollie and Prof and now about Jim again. I can understand exactly how Betty feels. You mustn't think she's selfish, Uncle John."

She knelt down beside her sister and patted her head. Betty looked up at her through swimming eyes and was silent.

"I understand," John Clayton said gravely. To himself he said: "Very clever of Margaret to try to cover up the hole in their armor. But just the same Betty is the one who loves Jim and with whom Jim was in love when he went away. Poor kid."

Betty had straightened up in her chair. "Forgive me for crying like that," she said to Martha Dalton and her uncle. "I don't know why I did it. Something just seemed to give way and I couldn't help it. But, oh, it does seem hard to be asked to go ahead and make our plans just as though Jim were dead. Isn't there anything that can be done, Uncle John, to make him well again?"

Clayton shook his head. "I wish I knew. Believe me, dear, we'll have the finest doctors that money can get, but I wouldn't want to raise your hopes and then see them dashed. I can tell you nothing. You know just as much about it as I do."

"Poor little girl," said Martha Dalton, putting her arm around Betty's shoulder. "You must be brave now. You mustn't let Jim see you crying. You know. You must be cheerful for Jim."

Betty bit her lip. "All—all right," she faltered. "I'll try."

"This seems to put the kibosh on our plans for going to Europe," said John Clayton presently. They had gone to the library to discuss plans. No comment followed his remark. He thought for a moment and then continued:

"It may not kill things entirely, though. You can't always be sure how these little matters are going to turn out. Maybe we'll be able to change Mollie's perspective yet, regarding certain things, if we give her time. It is obvious that she cannot get over the feeling that you girls are different from the Rusty and Betty of other days. Well, we'll just have to show her, that's all. After things get straightened out a bit and Jim gets a good rest she might be able to see things differently."

"I wouldn't give a snap for Europe without them all along with us," declared Rusty, her dark eyes gloomy, "and as for going away and leaving them here after all they've suffered—well, it isn't being done, that's all."

"Spoken like a dead game sport!" said John Clayton cheerily.

Betty was looking through the tall window into the street. "A week," she observed pensively, "it'll be a long time to wait."

She looked at her sister speculatively for a moment, started to speak and then changed her mind. Then she glanced sideways at Martha Dalton who was watching her closely. She smiled a twisted little smile.

"Do you suppose, dear," she inquired, "that Nellie Downing is as pretty as Rusty?"

John Clayton looked at her sharply and had to leave the room. In his private study he strode over to the window and looked both hands behind his back as he gazed at the garden outside.

Meanwhile, Betty was waiting for her answer from Nurse Dalton. Rusty smirked and Martha stared. Then, after a moment, she chuckled.

"My angel child," she exclaimed affectionately, "I'll say that Nellie Downing or any other Nellie can't hold a candle to Rusty. Nor with Betty either. But don't forget, pre-dious, that pretty is as pretty does, you know. So when Jim gets home you just sit pretty for both of you."

Betty smiled—a very heavy smile. "Have you reached any definite conclusion about it yet, dear?" she asked.

Nurse Dalton looked her youngest charge over severely.

"Tell me what Rusty is thinking about," she said in evasive answer, "and I'll let you have my piece of peach pie at dinner."

Betty smiled sadly and rose from her chair. That, she said, made her think of something else. Peach pie! Martha Dalton must build half a dozen or so of them for Prof and Jim. "I'll bet Jim hasn't forgotten the taste of peach pie."

She put her arms around her sister and clung to her for a moment.

"Forgive me, Dolly, dear," she said to Martha Dalton. "I'll try not to be a selfish girl again, but oh—turning once more to Rusty—'something seems to be telling me, despite all the bad news we've got, that Jim is going to know us when he sees us. And for goodness sake,' she tacked on vehemently, 'don't let's forget the harp this time!'"

"I'm hoping for a lot," said Rusty, "when he hears you sing that song, the one you sang the night before he went away. When Other Tongues and Other Hearts."

Martha Dalton was thinking that she was past hoping, that she dared not hope any more. But she said nothing; merely smiled.

"There's another one, too, that he always liked," Betty reminded her sister. "Oh Promise Me. Remember it?"

Margaret did. "Uh huh," she said dreamily.

Martha Dalton looked at the two and vigorously scratched her double chin. They were, she said, the original pair of aces—the two most aggravating females she had ever known. "Can't you come down to earth? Run along, now, both of you, and be ready to scout down to Camdenville when we hear from Mollie."

The twins ran.

Another letter—from Prof—received two days later, announced that he, Mollie and Jim were getting ready to leave New York and would arrive in Camdenville at eight-thirty, five the following evening. Mollie, he said, had completely recovered and was in good spirits—"considering things in general"—and he believed that Nellie Downing had become "interested" in Jack Nevin, the newspaper reporter who had helped them so much the night Jim was lost.

Rusty and Betty both drew a long breath when this was read and looked at Martha Dalton in triumph.

"There," said Rusty, "is your romance, Dolly. The beautiful nurse, the Paragon Lady, is all that you said she was but she likes somebody else."

Martha Dalton confessed that she was beaten. "Still," she said softly, "it would have been a romantic ending," and she shot a mischievous glance at John Clayton. "Please finish the letter, Mr. Clayton."

"We'll go over on the morning train," said he.

That, said Martha, would give her time to get everything ready.

Including the pies, reminded Rusty.

Not once, since coming to Indianapolis, had Rusty had the chance to demonstrate the power and accuracy of her right arm—the arm that had saved Jim from ignominious defeat one day and cracked a head with a croquet ball.

The chance came, however. Freddie Lawrence, he of the flaming motion picture directorial genius, gave her a chance to put it to the test. Freddie hadn't been around much of late, but Freddie had not forgotten them.

The hours that afternoon dragged along on feet of lead for the two girls. Dinner finally over, the girls started for the music room to while away the time. But they did not reach it—just then.

Freddie comes a cropper in the next chapter and admits he's licked.

LONG TERMS OF LEGISLATURE ARE RULE IN ILLINOIS

Sessions Drag Out Six Months or More in Most Instances

Springfield, Ill., Jan. 14—(AP)—Pleas for a short session, coming at each general assembly, are answered usually with a prolonged session dragging out over six months. The fifty-fourth general assembly extended over a period of 154 days, but longer sessions have been known.

In 1873, the meeting of the Twenty-seventh general assembly, the length of the four sessions was 293 days. This assembly had one regular session, two special and one adjourned.

This was the first meeting of the legislature after the adoption of the Constitution of 1870 and its time was mainly devoted to framing, discussing and passing laws required by the change in the organic law of the state.

The first special session opened on May 24 and closed June 22, 1871. It was convened by Governor Palmer to make additional appropriations for the necessary expenses of the State Government and for the continuance of work on the new State House. The purpose of the Governor in summoning the second special session was to provide financial relief for the city of Chicago after the great fire of October 9-11.

Members were summoned by special telegrams and were in their seats October 13, continuing in session to October 24. Chicago had advanced $2,500,000 toward the completion of the Illinois and Michigan canal, under the pledge of the State that this outlay should be made good.

The Legislature voted an appropriation sufficient to pay both principal and interest of this loan, amounting, in round numbers to about $3,500,000. The adjourned session opened on November 15 and continued 147 days, devoted entirely to considering and adopting legislation pertaining to the new constitution.

Another long session was the fortieth general assembly, which lasted over a period of 230 days and the twenty-eighth general assembly lasted 202 days.

Both the nineteenth, twentieth and twenty-fourth general assemblies last-

Important measures enacted at the twentieth session included acts establishing and maintaining free schools; establishing normal universities at Normal, providing for the building of a new penitentiary and funding the secured arrears of interest on the public debt.

At the twenty-fourth session Governor Yates was elected to the senate

Albany, N. Y.—Mrs. Florence Knapp who, as secretary of state temporarily, has supervision of the boxing commission, is to see her first fight a week from tonight when Fidel LaBarba meets Elkey Clark.

New York—A woman is negotiating for the purchase of a seat on the New York Stock Exchange. There is nothing but precedent to prevent approval by the exchange authorities. She would be the first owner of a seat, although several women are members of stock exchange firms.

Chicago—Mary Garden can be quite expressive in English as well as in Greek. As to suggestions that a tiff instead of a cold caused her failure to sing "Carmen," she says "rubbish. Just plain unadulterated rubbish."

New York—Mr. Browning is trying to struggle through 40,000 letters about himself and Peaches. Some of them have come from Iceland and nearly all of the 25,000 are real friendly.

Constantinople—Turk advertisers will be fined henceforth if they err in spelling or grammar.

Elizabeth, N. J.—Having drunk half a pint of wood alcohol and then slept on the ground all night with the temperature well below freezing, John Brennan is going to be out of a hospital in a few days doctors expect.

Tonight at 7:30

The advance sale of seats will open for the most elaborate and novel theatrical offering presented on the local stage since the Civil War. Only those holding a "Courtesy Ticket" may reserve seats tonight. This arrangement last season enabled the management of the theatre to handle the sale for the without being subjected to criticism, as is often the case, when the entire populace, as in the present instance, demand seats for an entertainment. In this manner each person may reserve ten tickets, but no more.

Rolling Along

Says J. A. Darnaby, the director of the big show and responsible for the direction, making possible the smashing success of "Let's Go Peggy." "A knowledge of what it is possible for men and women of talent to accomplish, once they have determined upon doing a thing well, and after a careful summing up of the splendid civic pride and spirit so manifested during the rehearsals the past few days, we are as certain as it is possible for a director to be that the cast in "Rolling Along" will give the most delightful and popular entertainment we have ever staged for the people of Dixon. And in making the public statement, I pay the highest compliment to those players who staged, as none have ever played better, "The Little Lady" and "Let's Go Peggy."

"Rolling Along" is a musical revue, entirely unlike either of the preceding shows and of sufficient novelty to appeal to all lovers of good entertainment."

Note

The sale of seats will continue on Saturday, Sunday and Monday when "Courtesy Tickets" will not be necessary to secure seats. Should the box office not be open, the office on the second floor of the theatre will be.

JOHN MORRISON USES LINIMENT KEEPS FREE OF ACES AND PAINS

This Famous Ball Player Tells What Is Best For Aches and Pains

LINIMENT KEEPS YOU LIMBER, SPRY, SUPPLE

Men and women who suffer with lame, stiff, aching backs, joints or muscles, and would like to be free of such trouble should take a tip from Big League Stars like John Morrison of Pittsburgh "Pirates."

John Morrison says:—"Mike Martin could charge ten times what he does for that liniment of his and not a soul would refuse to pay it. It is the finest liniment made for aches and pains and no mistake."

Big League Stars couldn't play ball if crippled up with aches, pains, swollen, stiff joints or rheumatism. Whenever they get that way no time is lost in quickly relieving the trouble. Mike Martin's Liniment is a higher priced, more expensive liniment than ordinary remedies, but it is worth the difference—quicker, sure, safer and better—more pleasant to use also. It is unquestionably the best money can buy. High priced "Stars" wouldn't fool with anything but the best.

With each bottle of Mike Martin's Liniment you buy at the drug store comes a folder telling just how this famous trainer treats various aches, pains, joints and different rheumatic troubles, lame back, etc. 25 years' experience makes Mike Martin probably the world's greatest expert on such troubles.

Take John Morrison's tip. Get a bottle at drug store or write name and address plainly and send with dollar bill for large bottle postage paid to—Mike Martin, Trainer, Washington Ball Club, Westwood, Md.
